

Help Your Teams Learn in Their Own Languages.

Your global teams may speak English, but they will learn more quickly and retain more content if they receive training in their native languages. Translating your eLearning modules can lead to increases in productivity, product quality, and employee satisfaction. Trustpoint.One can help.

Custom Learning in Every Language.

Whether you have a simple PowerPoint or a multi-module eLearning course with all the bells and whistles, we can help you render your content for maximum impact in the most cost-effective manner. Our clients are multinational corporations who produce eLearning modules in over 40 languages – from French to Khmer. We work closely with them to customize the eLearning experience for every user. This includes translation, localization, engineering, audio production, and testing.

Multimedia Expertise.

Our localization engineers work daily in platforms like Articulate and Captivate as well as proprietary tools and hybrid setups. We overlay subtitles or multilingual voiceover, offering talent selection based on your criteria. We even translate all quizzes and assessments so you can gauge the success of your translated courses. The final deliverables are fully localized and ready to integrate into your Learning Management System (LMS).

Technology to Save You Time and Money.

We rely on translation technology to increase our linguists' productivity. Our solutions combine the latest translation software, skilled human translators, and a full QA process to control for accuracy and consistency. We will consult with you to suggest the most suitable approach for your particular training needs, timeline, and budget.
